

Biography	Beat Schenk is a licensed architect who joined BIG in 2010 as Senior Project Manager, and is now the Director of Detail Design. In 2015, he was made Partner. Prior to his current role, he worked on a variety of healthcare, educational, and cultural projects around the globe. Beat has more than 20 years of experience as Project Architect and Designer and has sharpened his skills while working on many notable buildings in North America, Europe, and the Middle East. While at Frank O. Gehry Partners, he worked on a number of museum projects – including the Guggenheim Museums in Bilbao, Spain and Lower Manhattan, NYC – in addition to working on the Vitra Chair Museum Expansion in Weil, Germany. Beat's collaboration with BIG dates back to 2000, where he worked alongside Bjarke on the Seattle Public Library in Seattle, Washington while at the Office for Metropolitan Architecture (OMA).
